

Additional Useful Information

We identified software components by responsibility for the interfacing between Client and External Interface API Components. Some noteworthy items are:

1. The watchdog components could be merged into their respective components, depending on how much responsibility we envision the particular objects should have at implementation
2. We also say that the Server Components can also make requests of the Client Components to show new information

Component Diagram for the Server Component of the Mobile Application Container

We identified software components by responsibility for the interfacing between Client and External Interface API Components.

Last Modified: December 12, 2020